REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY

Today marks the 100th anniversary of the ending of WWI, and this will be a national day of thanksgiving. The 11.00a.m. Mass today will be a Solemn Requiem for all who gave their lives in the War. Norwich city will mark the Armistice at 11am, and Canon Paul will represent the Catholic community. There will be an Act of Remembrance on behalf of the city at City Hall from 6.40pm to 7pm. At 7.05 all the city churches will ring their bells to mark the end of the war, and to pray for peace in our world.

"ARMISTICE : LEGACY OF THE GREAT WAR"

Exhibition @ Norwich Castle Museum to mark the ending of World War 1 in 1918, running until 6th Jan, 2019 : among the many interesting items on display the only religious object is a small 'Trench Art' brass cross made from a ship's propeller that has been loaned by the Cathedral. We are grateful to the county museum service for including St John's in the exhibition.
